Ramiro A. Galindo

Ram is best known as a successful entrepreneur and business developer. His activities in the real estate industry are vertically integrated encompassing primary land development, self-account commercial construction, and property management. He is founder of Aerofit, a health fitness club developer and operator. His banking activities include the founding of two banks and directorships in three. After graduation from Texas A&M University with Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Civil Engineering he returned to Bolivia, his country of birth. There he founded the engineering firm Consultores Galindo Ltda. and the tin alloys industrial plant Bera de Bolivia S.A. He also represented the Danish Government as Honorary Consul and was later knighted by the Queen of Denmark for his international work on behalf of her country. Back in Texas, Ram continued identifying business and public service opportunities, creating viable enterprises and serving on various local and state-wide boards. He is also the author of the book "The Making of an American", his autobiography.
